

TEAM

Matt Berkowitz is a unique phenomenon in the Jewish world. He has successfully merged his roles as rabbi, educator, artist and fundraiser.

Hundreds of artists flock to the studio of Yair Medina. Here, international standards of quality mix with warmth, inspiration, encouragement and practicality.

Research, creativity, aesthetics and craft combine in the work of David Moss to educate and inspire Jewishly.

Elyssa Moss Rabinowitz constructs worlds of Jewish meaning and beauty, drawing on all media to create interactive, participatory events and programs of Jewish content.

OPPORTUNITY

Traditionally Jewish learning has focused on the written word. Much of contemporary culture, however, is conveyed non-verbally. Art joined to the word opens worlds.

VISION

Kol HaOt weaves together creativity and aesthetics, arts and inspiration to convey the meaning of Jewish texts and ideas, history and values.

ELEMENTS

- Artistic Educational Experiences
- Visual Beit Midrash
- Virtual Community
- Jewish Cabaret
- Connecting Artists and Patrons
- Training Educators in our Vision
- Fostering Jewish Art
- Exporting Kol HaOt programs

© 2005 Andi Arnovitz

Kol HaOt will have an active learning website. A weekly video broadcast will be sent out, for instance, Andi Arnovitz explaining her work called "Vest of the Giver of Charity" about the value of tzedakah.

© 2006 Matt Berkowitz

Kol HaOt will train a core of visual educators to bring our vision into communities. The opening plate of Matt Berkowitz's Haggadah teaches the message of appreciation through the bringing of the first fruits.

© 2009 David Moss
